Nazi Secret Weapon

Robot Tanks In Anzio Drive

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, March 1 (AP)—German troops, armed with a new "secret weapon" tank loaded with explosives, have slugged out in new assaults against the Anzio beachhead, and Allied headquarters said this may be a third great offensive aimed at driving the invasion troops into the sea.

The Nazis opened a heavy attack between Carroceto and Cisterna Tuesday morning, and this was growing stronger.

Artillery duels thundered and the enemy pounded the beachhead with the heaviest bombardment since the initial landings.

Headquarters disclosed the Germans had used new radio-controlled tanks, bearing 1000-pound charges and designed to blow up within Allied lines, in their second major offensive against the beachhead, but that Allied artillery had exploded 14 of them before they reached the Allied line. The blasts probably caused great damage to Nazi positions instead.

An official announcement described the tanks as having a low silhouette, with a radio aerial for directing it and then exploding it by remote control against a chosen target.

The former Lehr regiment, a crack unit which had been stationed in the German training center of Doeberlitz to demonstrate the latest weapons and tactics, was brought to Italy to put the tanks into action.

With great fanfare, the regiment paraded before the Nazi forces and staged an abortive demonstration of the new weapon.

The tank wheels spun around, but the tanks themselves failed to move at that time.

Used in the second offensive against the beachhead, none of the tanks actually reached Allied lines, falling victim to artillery fire.

Allied airmen flew some 700 sorties over the beachhead yesterday—compared with 30 by the Germans—and delivered their heaviest blow at enemy concentrations around Cisterna.

U. S. Invaders dumped 14 tons of bombs in an hour's attack there, an average of 500 pounds of explosives a minute.

Other Allied formations pounded Nazi targets ringing the beachhead and Marauders raided the Viterbo airfield northwest of Rome.

REDS BATTLE AT OUTSKIRTS OF PSKOV

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—Russian troops were reported fighting on the outskirts of Pskov as the battle for that great German communications base and key to control of the Baltic raged on with unabated fury today.

"Our troops are overcoming German resistance and advancing swiftly," a Russian communique declared.

The bulletin said that Red Army troops had captured more than 250 additional towns and villages, including Pogorelka, six miles north of Pskov, and Kutuzovo, 11 miles to the ast.

Helsinki dispatches routed through Stockholm, meanwhile, reported a Soviet drive across ice-bound Lake Peipus had established bridgeheads on the Estonian shore and asserted that the Russians were also attacking across the narrows between Lakes Peipus and Pskov, 35 miles northeast of the Baltic gateway city. There was no immediate Russian confirmation of these reports.

The Germans were fighting desperately to hold the Soviet advance, the communique said, mining roads, blowing up bridges and staging frequent but ineffective counter-attacks. One engagement alone cost the Germans 900 men killed.

Moscow reported a new Soviet offensive in the Ukraine south of Krivoi Rog, where the Russians were declared to have captured 70 towns in a 26-mile drive down the Ingulets river to Nikolaevka, liquidating a German regiment and 700 other enemy troops on the way.

RAF Bombers Pound Germany

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—RAF Mosquito bombers attacked objectives in western Germany last night and returned without loss.

The assault followed a heavy daylight attack by U. S. Fortresses on the German aircraft center of Brunswick and a Liberator raid on the Pas-de-Calais coast of France.

The Germans made a weak retaliatory attack on London last night. One raider was shot down.

Rick Sees Million Killed in Invasion

NEW YORK, March 1 (INS)—Capt. Rickenbacker estimated today the invasion of Europe will cost 1,000,000 American lives—"our kids, your kids."

Capt. Rickenbacker shared the speaking spotlight with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at the 50th anniversary dinner of the Riverside Church Men's Bible Class. He painted a grim picture of the invasion but added:

"There is only one way to go and that is forward."

BRITAIN BACKS REDS' TERMS TO FINLAND

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—Great Britain agreed today to peace terms submitted by Russia to Finland, demanding the Finns cease "military operations," break relations with Germany, re-establish 1940 borders and intern all Nazi troops and ships in Finland with or without Soviet help.

Moscow dispatches said the Russians were ready to receive Dr. Paasikivi, who negotiated the end of 1940 war and who received the terms from the Russian ambassador to Sweden, Mme. Alexandra Kollontay.

The Finnish Parliament held two secret sessions yesterday but no inkling of the Baltic country's attitude was revealed.

A Moscow dispatch said Russia was aware of the difficulty in driving Germans from Finland. The same dispatch said "there is reason to believe the Finns would soon meet the Soviet suggestions and discussions would begin shortly."

Should the Finns refuse Russia's original terms, proposals which would be made subsequently would be extremely harsh, the advice from Moscow said.

German foreign office spokesmen reserved comment.

2 Bay State Fliers Win Flying Crosses

Distinguished Flying Crosses have been awarded two Massachusetts youths in England for heroism on missions over Europe.

Staff Sergt. Hugo A. Hywari of Orchardale st., Dorchester, and Staff Sergt. Frederick R. Cool of Manchester were honored for achievements as gunners aboard bombers.

Hywari, veteran of 25 missions, already wears the Army Air Medal with three oak leaves clusters. Cool, who has taken part in 30 raids, has the same decorations.

Yank Soldiers Speed Mop-Up In Admiraltys

By RICHARD C. BERHOLZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

Americans landed in the Admiralty Islands in the Bismarck sea yesterday and quickly captured one of the two principal airdromes against negligible enemy opposition.

Gen. MacArthur, who directed operations from a warship and who went ashore after Sixth Army troops landed, announced today the invasion brings the end of the Bismarck campaign "clearly in sight."

"In addition to troops already trapped in the Solomons Islands, some 50,000 of the enemy, largely in New Britain and at Rabaul, are now enclosed," he said.

The landing in Los Negros island in the Admiralties yesterday drew no air or naval opposition. Shortly afterward, Japanese Marines near the captured Momote airdrome offered minor resistance but were overwhelmed.

The new Allied beachhead places Americans within 250 miles of Kavieng, New Ireland, 350 miles of Rabaul, and 750 statute miles of Truk, enemy stronghold in the Caroline Islands.

Control of the Admiralty Islands would complete the domination of supply lines extending to Japanese forces still fighting on New Guinea and New Britain.

No mention was made of operations against Lorengau, principal enemy base on Manus island, largest in the group.

A special communique issued by Allied headquarters said "everything clicked beautifully from the

Here are significant facts about the invasion of the Admiralty islands:

It projects the Allies into the Bismarck sea beyond New Britain and New Ireland.

It bypasses Rabaul, 380 miles to the southeast.

It puts the Allies within 250 miles of Kavieng.

It gives the Allies an airdrome from which to blast shipping from Truk to Rabaul.

It severs the supply line from Truk to Wewak, New Guinea.

It helps open the sea lanes toward the Philippines.

It secures positions won on the northeast New Guinea coast and on western New Britain.

Her No. 4 Book Found Overseas

LANCASTER, Pa., March 1 (AP)—A cablegram from England ended Mrs. Charles Morrison's several weeks' search for a missing ration book.

Her son, Master Sergt. Walter G. Morrison, wired, "Found your No. 4 ration book in pocket. Will return by mail."

Argentina Quells New Revolt

MONTEVIDEO, March 1 (AP)—The Argentine government announced today it had quelled a revolt by an army colonel and his infantry regiment seeking to oust Gen. Edelmiro Farrell from the presidency he assumed last week in a palace coup engineered by the country's strongly Nationalistic elements.

Lieut.-Col. Tomas Duco, a close friend of Gen. Pedro Ramirez who delegated his presidential powers to Farrell last Thursday, massed the outskirts of Buenos Aires, but failed to move on the capital.

Instead, he entered the city himself on a government invitation for a conference with Farrell and War Minister Juan Peron, known as the man behind the throne in Argentina's turbulent politics.

The conference was held in the war ministry.

Duco was arrested and held at headquarters of another regiment, a dispatch direct from Buenos Aires said late this morning, and his regiment was returning to its headquarters under command of officers loyal to Farrell's government.

The regiment camped at Lomas De Zamora 20 miles from Buenos Aires. The troops occupied the town hall.

The reporter was able to see a Major Molinari, heading sentry duty forces, but he said "you must not publish anything. Lieut.-Col. Duco is not here."

Molinari said "our commander left for the war ministry, called by Farrell, who gave his word of honor he would release him after talking with him. As hostages, we are keeping here two colonels who came with the vice-president's (Farrell's) message. That is all. Now please leave."

The newsman saw light artillery and several machineguns on both sides of the main avenue in Lomas De Zamora where the regiment had taken up combat positions.

Apparently the attempted revolt did not extend beyond Duco's own unit, but the Argentine navy was reported to have demanded that power be returned to Ramirez, who resigned ostensibly because of his health, or to the supreme court.

Jury Hears WhatNoxon Told Police

By PAUL WHELTON AND PAULINE WARREN

PITTSFIELD, March 1—Corporation Lawyer John F. Noxon, on trial for the alleged electrocution murder of his six-months-old mentally-deficient son, admitted to police, it was brought out today at the trial, that he once had said:

"I'll be damned if I'd ever see one of my children in an institution."

In this seventh day of the trial the defendant again listened impassively to the reading of a detailed statement taken from him last September just before his arrest.

It was read by Miss Mary A. Bristol, retired official Berkshire county court stenographer, who had taken down the defendant's statement, and one by his wife, during the police interview.

PUT BABY ON TRAY

Mrs. Noxon, evidently recovered after her brief upset yesterday, when she left the courtroom and wept, was back today and smiled at several friends.

According to the Noxon statement, as read by Miss Bristol, neither of the physicians at the house on the fatal evening of Sept. 22 asked him about the bare spots on a trouble light wire, but they discussed the spots among themselves.

"When setting the baby down, you put the green pillow on the floor?" he was asked.

"I put the baby on the tray," Noxon replied, according to the transcript. "The baby was on the short side of the tray."

Q—What was the position of the baby? A—The baby was on his back.

DOCTOR'S CONVERSATION

Q—Why did you move the baby? A—The only reason I moved the baby was to keep him from falling off.

Q—You knew the diaper was wet? A—I didn't know his diaper was wet until I lifted him.

Q—But you said you poured some water off the tray; then he must have wet again. A—Yes, while I was out of the room, unless it had dripped from the already wet diaper.

Q—When Dr. Hunt came to your house that night, did either

Asks War Plant Ban on Mothers

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Mrs. William Berry of Greensboro, N. C., known as the "American mother of 1942," today declared there ought to be a law to force employers to "cease inducing mothers to work in industry."

Mrs. Berry, mother of 13, said children and homes are being neglected and people should "enhance the prestige of the mother in the home rather than glamourize the woman at the steel works."

Discussing the problem of mothers in industry before the family life conference at Catholic University, Mrs. Berry declared mothers are "custodians of all that is most precious in our war aims."

Chaplin Dad Case In Court

LOS ANGELES, March 1 (AP)—The stipulation in Joan Berry's suit to have Charles Chaplin adjudged father of her four-months-old daughter was scheduled for action in superior court today.

The agreement entered into by attorneys for Chaplin and Miss Berry's former attorney provides that the suit would be dropped if blood tests indicated the comedian is not the father of Baby Carol Ann.

Three physicians reported such a conclusion after making the tests, but Miss Berry's new attorney, Joseph Scott, has announced he will attack the conclusiveness of such examinations. Scott replaced another lawyer who recently withdrew.

Attorneys for the 54-year-old film funnyman and six other persons yesterday filed motions to quash federal indictments charging them with conspiracy to deprive the 24-year-old Miss Berry of her constitutional rights.

The action was based on the ground that there were no women on the grand jury which voted the indictments. Last Saturday U. S. District Judge J. G. T. O'Connor overruled a similar motion made by Atty. Jerry Giesler

Fighters Film Ruins as Nazi Bullets Whiz

Berlin-Bound With New England's Own

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (by transport mail)—Tonight there were movies for the ground crews and enlisted technical personnel of this fighter station. Not romantic movies, full of female pulchritude, or comic pattern. But short serials that recorded human death.

They were the sequences of Lieut. Chester Vitali's "triple kill"—little jerking images on a postage stamp screen that might have been taken by some amateur with a cheap camera.

Actually they were scenes—brief and impersonal—snapped in synchronization with Vitali's guns. For when a fighter pilot presses the little firing button that sends his eight guns spewing a rain of coffin nails, the movie machine clicks off a record of what happens—fuzzy, blurred and often out-of-focus, yet an accurate audit for expert eyes.

There are no descriptive legends to explain the action, no sonorous sound track to voice the details. Just the pilot's name and the date.

So there were moments when the dancing silhouette on the screen seemed to be doing nothing more lethal than a moth flitting through fog.

But the trained eyes of the sergeants saw! Their response was like that of the bleacherites at Fenway Park when Joe Cronin scoops up a roller on his meat-hand side and underhands it to Bobby Doerr—a long, sucking "Oooooooo," or "That's it, baby!"

Lake Sees Air Squadron Leave for Assault

Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent in Britain with New England's Berlin-bound sons, watches an Army Air Force squadron leave in the dim light of dawn for an assault on Nazi-occupied Europe and tells the absorbing story in tomorrow's installment.

"These youngsters took it as another routine day in a high velocity life," Lake writes in another of his brilliant articles on what your boys are doing "over there."

Read Thursday's Boston American for this thrilling story of the kids "who so lately had been snitching apples or raking autumn leaves at home." Also read the messages by boys from Chestnut Hill, Reading, Bedford, South Boston, Uxbridge, Haverhill, Waltham, Medford, Roslindale, Malden, Watertown, Cambridge and other New England cities and towns.

Pick 26 Baby Stars; We Do Mean Babies

HOLLYWOOD, March 1 (AP)— This is about babies, and if you don't like babies you'd better turn to the want ads or the war news, because 26 babies are involved, and that's a lot of babies to dislike all at once.

The babies, who range from three to eight weeks old, are working in a maternity ward scene in "Casanova Brown," if you can call it working when all they do is lie around in their cribs and squawk and utter infantile noises at the eight nurses who hover over them constantly.

This is reported to be the largest number of babies ever assembled on one movie set.

The studio people got the babies by perusing the vital statistics columns in the daily papers.

As soon as a baby was born, a suave gentleman from the studio called on its parents and said the youngster was badly needed for an acting job. The task of mobilizing the platoon of yowlers wasn't too difficult.

The infants are paid $75 a day. Adult extra players get $16 a day. Did somebody say Hollywood was a dizzy place?

Red Cross Plea By Grew Begins Drive for Fund

Inspired by statements of Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, that public announcement of Nipponese war atrocities may force Japan into more humane treatment of war prisoners, 30,000 volunteer workers today started a vigorous campaign to raise $4,641,000 in Greater Boston, this section's quota in the 1944 Red Cross War Fund drive for $200,000,000.

JOSEPH C. GREW
Speaking at Red Cross Rally

Grew, principal speaker at a campaign rally in Symphony Hall, told an audience of 3000 that America can expect a "sugar-coated compromise peace offer from Japan" when that nation's military leaders realize that defeat is inevitable.

"Boston will not let our boys in service down," Charles F. Rowley, campaign general chairman, told volunteers today as they began their solicitation of funds. "The stakes are too high," he said, "and too many lives of our fighting men are in the balance."

SEES NAZIS CRACKING

Former Ambassador Grew's plea for all-out support of the Red Cross was seconded by Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin. Grew predicted that German morale would crack, but that Japan would fight "even after the investment of Tokyo by our troops."

Discussing the reaction of the Japanese military leaders to the publication of the brutal atrocities, he said:

"Strange as it may seem, the Japanese, even the military leaders, do not like to be regarded by the rest of the world as uncivilized. I doubt whether the perpetrators themselves will have any feeling of repentance. The Japanese people as a whole would, if they knew the facts, be utterly ashamed.

"The mere revelation of these atrocities cannot and will not change the inherent character of any Japanese. But it is conceivable, and I hope possible, that the higher military leaders may gradually, if not immediately, take steps to insure better treatment for our compatriots who are still prisoners in their hands."

MUST DESTROY CULT

A Japanese peace offer, he said, might involve retirement from a large part of occupied areas on conditions that we leave their homeland undisturbed.

"But unless we continue our determination to destroy the Japanese military machine, caste and cult, once and for all, and unless we take effective measures to prevent that cancer of aggressive militarism, from digging underground and secretly building itself up again, as it did in Germany, our sons and grandsons will be fighting this war over again in the next generation.

"The showdown must be complete and irrevocable."

HAILS JAP RED CROSS

Grew praised the work of the Japanese Red Cross and said if it had been allowed to function the fate of our men in prison camps in Japan and the Phillipines might have been a different story.

Gov. Saltonstall said everyone present had someone in the armed forces and the way to help them was to contribute to the Red Cross.

Mayor Tobin said: "Anyone who is unwilling to give to the Red Cross is unworthy to be called an American."

The program included a pageant depicting the work of the Red Cross through the years.

TELL OF SEEING SLAIN WOMAN BEFORE DEATH

Army Pvt. Francis V. J. Gricus, 25, charged with the murder of Mrs. Wilfred Parent, mother of three children, listened intently in Middlesex superior court today as more state witnesses told of seeing the victim, hatless and coatless, last Nov. 27, near the playground where her battered body was found the next morning.

After Anthony Taranto, Waltham truck driver, testified Mrs. Parent left his house in a hurry after she had "invited herself" there, Philip J. Belliveau, of Common st., Waltham, said he saw her running along Charter st., not far from McKenna playground.

Fuor other witnesses testified they saw a woman, hatless and coatless, "weaving and staggering" along River st., shortly after 1 a. m.

William Carlson of Waverly ave., Watertown, his sister-in-law, Miss Mary C. Lynch, and William J. Lang of Falmouth st., Belmont, said the woman had her arms crossed over her chest "as if to keep warm."

Police Inspector Edward D. McNeil of Waltham testified that he went to Gricus' home Dec. 3 and took a topcoat and suit which Joseph T. Walker, state toxicologist, earlier testified were blood-stained.

Taranto told of meeting Mrs. Parent in a tavern and accompanying her to his house.

Among the missing jewels are a diamond-studded platinum bracelet, wedding ring with 40 diamonds, lady's diamond ring, platinum brooch with diamonds and rubies, and an antique ring containing 40 pearls and 45 rose-cut diamonds.

Not Enough Meat To Lift Rationing, Bowles Says

WASHINGTON, March 1 (INS) Price Administrator Bowles said today the American meat supply is not large enough to permit a temporary suspension of rationing as was announced by Canada.

The OPA chief said the sharp reductions in pork and beef ration values which go into effect Sunday and validation of another five-point pork bonus stamp for use this week were as far as this country could go in providing more meat for civilians.

In addition, Bowles warned the point values would probably have to be boosted again when production hits its seasonal decline.

Bowles explained Canada's meat problem is different from the one in the United States. Canadian storage facilities, he said, are limited and meat is in danger of spoilage because of a lack of transportation.

The OPA, after announcing new point values for meats to be effective Sunday, declared a "bonus" in pork with spare coupon No. 4 in Book 4 good for 5 points until March 4.

SOLONS INSIST GAG BE LIFTED ON F. D. AIDES

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Congress asserted emphatically today that its authority is independent of the Administration as it challenged the right of federal officials to refuse to testify before Congressional committees.

Chairman Dies (D.) of Texas of the Committee Investigating Un-American activities said he would make an issue on the House floor of what was termed "Administration pressure" which he said led to suspension of an investigation of the federal communications commission.

Farm state senators who have sought unsuccessfully to obtain information on the Rural Electrification Administration, intimated that contempt proceedings may be filed against Jonathan Daniels, administrative assistant to the Chief Executive, and against Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

The House situation arose when Dies took up the question of charges that Chairman Lea (D.) of California of a committee investigating the FCC had "whitewashed" the probe.

Rep. Wigglesworth (R.) of Massachusetts, a committee member, made the charge. Lea denied it.

The FCC investigation was begun when the former private owner of a New York city radio station, WMCA, said he had been forced to sell his station to Edward J. Noble, one-time assistant secretary of commerce

A Senate farm subcommittee is considering contempt action against Daniels because of his refusal to answer questions concerning the REA, and Chairman Smith (D.) of South Carolina, disclosed today that the proceedings may be broadened to include Wickard who has made similar refusals.

Work Deferment Periods Face Cut

The likelihood that many occupational deferments of Massachusetts draft registrants will be cancelled weeks ahead of expiration date increased today as all 173 local draft boards went ahead with a general review of deferments.

Col. Ralph M. Smith, State selective service director, ordered the boards to take up consideration of deferments by order number, not expiration date. He said the boards should crack down especially hard on deferments of men under 26 years of age.

In this order, the director asked that every deferment granted to registrants between 18 and 37 in Class 2-A, essential civilian activity; 2-B, essential war work; 2-C, agricultural worker without dependents, and 3-C, pre-Pearl Harbor father in agriculture, be studied with a view to eliminating all that are not absolutely necessary.

Replacement schedules in war plants will also be reviewed under Smith's order, with the purpose of speeding orderly withdrawal of men suitable for military service.

Baby Boy Abandoned In Store, Women Hunted

Such an appealing little fellow, with a sunny grin and bright brown eyes—but he's a youngster whom some mother forgot to call for, or perhaps deliberately abandoned.

Police today are searching for two women who left the child in a Staniford st., West End, variety store yesterday afternoon and asked the proprietress, Mrs. Fanny Goodman, to care for a little 2-year-old boy while they searched for an apartment. The woman told her, Mrs. Goodman said, they had a one-room apartment in near-by Grove st.

Mrs. Goodman consented to look after the little boy, but when she closed the store at 9 the women had not returned. Finally, at 11, when the women still didn't appear, she appealed to police.

Officers took the child, a clean, well-dressed youngster, to the Joy st. station, but when no one reported a missing child, they took him to the Chardon Street Home.

He immediately became a favorite of the nurses there, but he was too young to be able to give his name, and no clues were found on his clothing that would lead to identification.

He's a happy-go-lucky, lovable child, and is described as 35 pounds in weight, dark brown hair and eyes, and wearing a brown coat with brass buttons, a two-toned brown sweater, corduroy jumpers, brown cap, red plaid stockings, black shoes and rubbers.

Mother of 4 Dies In Hotel, Sailor Held

Mother of four small children and wife of a soldier, Mrs. Dorothy Phelan, 30, of Washington st., Somerville, died today in a Boston hotel room from causes which moved police to arrest a sailor, reportedly her campanion.

At City Hspital, where her body was taken after the sailor called for help at the hotel, Dr. Robert Fahey said the cause of death apparently was a rupture and ulcer.

Police said the Navy man told them he and Mrs. Phelan had several drinks. While he was under questioning, an autopsy report was awaited from Medical Examiner Timothy Leary.

The Somerville woman's husband, Joseph Phelan, had been stationed at Ft. Devens but officers there said he had left yesterday for another post. The four Phelan children range from two to 11 years in age.

Gun Shots Kill Belgian Banker

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today Alexander Galopin, Belgian bank director and industrialist, was killed by revolver shots Monday.

IN ENGLAND—Beatrice Plumer of Newburyport has arrived in England to take up her position as assistant program director for the Red Cross. Before going overseas she was employed by the War Production Board in Washington.

Moffett Blasts Arabia Oil Line

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—James A. Moffett, former executive vice-president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, today assailed the government's proposed American pipeline as an "unjustified venture in bureaucracy," and called for the resignation of Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes on the grounds of "wasteful spending."

Disabled Vets Protest Relief Office Closing

Copies of a telegram to President Roosevelt, protesting the pending shut-down of Army Emergency Relief Offices in Massachusetts cities on March 15, were sent to Massachusetts members of Congress today by Clarence J. Hill, state commander of the Disabled American War Veterans.

Comdr. Hill told the President the Massachusetts department is "strongly opposed to the absorption of Army Emergency Relief by the American Red Cross. Please make an immediate investigation and block any and all such action."

Joyce Dana's Hubby Promoted to Major

Stephen D. McCallum of Shirley st., Winthrop, stationed with the Army Air Service Command in England, has been promoted from captain to major, the Army announced today.

Maj. MacCallum

Maj. McCallum, whose wife is Joyce Dana, motion picture critic for the Boston Daily Record, entered the service as a first lieutenant in August, '42. He was stationed at Albuquerque, N. M., Miami Beach and Rome, N. Y., before going overseas last fall.

Gen. Lutz, German Tank Expert, Dies

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—A Berlin broadcast reported by U. S. government monitors today said Gen. Oswald Lutz of the German armed forces had died in Munich last Saturday.

Death, the broadcast said, was due to "an illness which was caused by his unsparing efforts, regardless of the state of his health." It added that Lutz had been closely identified with the development of German tank weapons and tank formations.

Here's Ballot Plan Soldiers Will Like

By J. CLARENCE MOORE

SPOKANE, Wash., March 1 (AP)—"Are you," the Spokane Athletic Round Table is asking servicemen, "in favor of the present plan of having two sexes?"

The originators of "Bundles for Congress," beating legislators to the punch, have come up with their own version of a serviceman's ballot. Thousands of copies are being prepared for mailing overseas. Each is about 16 by 8 inches.

"Do you believe that a leader of men is rarely a follower of women?" is one of the questions.

The presidential race takes a back seat on this zany ballot. Putting first things first, the Spokane jesters give their voters this choice at the top of the column:

"Bonus of $10,000 and time and one-half overtime" or "a gorgeous blonde, brunette or redhead—no bonus."

Illustrations are rife in the de luxe ballot—from sweater girls to Jack Benny, from whose violin bees flit. Bing Crosby is candidate for sheriff, opposing Bob Hope.

The ART, a bit overwhelmed by its own elaborate masterpiece, gave these directions to voters:

"To vote for a person or measure mark an (X) in the first box at the right of the second box to the right—aw nuts!"

Teacher Wives Get New Hope

Although retaining the ban on married teachers by voting 4-1 against reinstatement of Mrs. Grace Lonergan Lorch, Dorchester teacher who wed an Army private, Boston school committee members today took under consideration a proposal to permit teachers married to servicemen to keep their jobs for the duration.

The latter motion was made by Clement A. Norton, only member of the committee to favor lifting the ban. Those voting to retain the present policy of reducing married teachers to temporary or substitute roles were Dr. Patrick J. Foley, chairman; Michael J. Ward, Joseph C. White and Daniel J. McDevitt.

Several of the committee members expressed themselves in favor of Norton's sugge stion.

Noted Raider Carlson Gets License to Wed

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 29 (AP)—A marriage license was issued here today to Lieut.-Col. Evans Fordyce Carlson, 48, Plymouth, Ct., and Peggy Tatum Whyte, 31, La Jolla, Cal. Col. Carlson was unavailable for comment, but Mrs. Howard Joplin, marriage license clerk, said the officer identified himself as the leader of Carlson's Marine Raiders famed in Pacific warfare.

Navy Takes Over New Escort Here

The destroyer escort John J. Powers was ready to join in the naval war on the Axis today after colorful launching ceremonies at Boston Navy Yard.

NEW BATTLE OVER JURY TO TRY LONERGAN

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—With the first juror to be seated, rival attorneys tackled again today the job of choosing 12 persons to decide the fate of RCAF Cadet Wayne Lonergan, charged with slaying his 22-year-old wife, Patricia, heiress to millions.

The resumption brought no indication of a truce between Asst. Dist. Atty. Jacob Grumet and Defense Atty. Edward V. Broderick, whose frequent clashes have highlighted the case.

A special panel, many of whose members are social luminaries and top-ranking business executives, was reinforced with an additional 100 new talesmen drawn during yesterday's one-day recess to replace persons excused. A total of 222 were ordered to report.

Broderick, who criticized the original panel as "hand-picked by the prosecution," still had 29 peremptory challenges left as the trial resumed. The prosecutor had 26.

Both sides agreed that examination of the talesmen probably would continue through the week.

As the questioning was renewed, the case still echoed with charges over a letter in which the 26-year-old defendant offered to relinquish any claim to a $2,000,000 share of his wife's estate in return for sole custody of his 22-months-old son.

The letter, written to the surrogate of New York County, was introduced into the trial Monday by Broderick.

Malden Girl Saved In Thin Ice Mishap

Six-year-old Joyce Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holland, of Warren ave., Malden, was recovering from immersion today after a narrow escape from drowning when she fell through thin ice in a pond near her home.

The girl was rescued by Robert Lloyd of Sawyer st., an employe of the Boston Ice Co., who saw her fall. Plunging into the water fully clothed, he carried the child ashore.

B. U. Trustee Makes Gift to Synagogue

A gift of two large candelabra to the Temple Sinai by Alfred H. Avery, Boston University trustee, dedicated to "better understanding between Judaism and Christianity," was announced today by Rabbi Beryl Cohon.

Rabbi Cohon said he believed this was the first time the candlesticks for a Jewish synagogue had been donated by a Christian.

Top Oratory Contest Winners Get Bonds And Trip to Capital

A double opportunity is open to students in Boston's public and parochial high schools and colleges and universities, who participate in the John Paul Jones oratorical contest which honors the great fighting American naval hero.

The contest, sponsored by the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser and by Hearst newspapers in 13 other cities from coast to coast, offers a chance for school-age youths to relive the valorous exploits which helped establish the freedom of our nation, and also to win war bond prizes totaling $20,000 on a national scale, plus local prizes for Boston winners.

Rear Adm. C. H. Woodward, USN, declared: "Our fighting men and fighting ships on all seas in today's worldwide struggle to preserve civilization, receive their heroic birthright from heroes such as John Paul Jones."

DUPLICATE PRIZES

The contest is operated in two sections with duplicate sets of prizes. The high school division is open to all public and parochial high school pupils in Boston, and the college division is open to all college and university students.

Grand first prizes of $1000 war bonds and trips to Washington and Annapolis are in store for winners in both the college and high school sections, with numerous awards for other top contestants. Such prizes are inspiring incentives to start research now for entering the oratorical contest honoring the great hero of the Revolution.

For Boston entrants there are extra local prizes in each division, headed by $100 for the two first place winners and ranging to $25 each for third through sixth place winners.

SPECIAL AWARDS

In addition, all who win through to the Eastern zone contest get a special $50 war bond bonus.

Heading the contest as honorary national chairman is Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

Gov. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts is one of six state chief executives on the national committee, while Mayor Maurice J. Tobin is a member of the committee planning the Boston contest.

PRIZES

$1000 to winner of national college finals.

$100 to all runners-up in national finals.

In addition, the two top national winners will be the guests of the Hearst newspapers on a trip to Washington and Annapolis, where the body of John Paul Jones rests in the chaped of the United States Naval Academy.

The Boston local prizes awarded by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser are:

Two separate sets of prizes for college city finals and high school city finals: $100, first; $50, second; $25 for third, fourth, fifth and sixth finishers.

Each contestant reaching the one finals —Eastern, Middle West, Pacific—will receive an additional $50.

All prizes are in United States War Bonds.

CONTEST RULES

These rules apply to both the high school and college divisions.

1—An oration must be original and delivered without reference to notes.

2—It must not exceed six minutes.

3—The general subject is: "John Paul Jones, American."

4—Each high school or college entered must conduct its own intra-mural competition, choosing its own judges and follow its own procedure. Individual winners so selected then must be announced to the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Contest Editor.

5—Elimination Contest: The Contest Editor will notify each school where and when its representative is to speak. Special judges will be chosen for this contest by the Contest Editor. The decision of the judges is binding.

6—An Eastern zone contest will be held in April in New York city. City winners of the Eastern zone will participate. At the same time the Midwest and Pacific zones will choose their winners.

7—Zone winners will meet for the grand national contest in New York, where national prizes will be awarded.

8—The two national winners—one in the high school group and one in the college group—will go to Washington and Annapolis with all expenses paid.

Hub's Leap Year Day Triplets Doing Well

Boston's Leap Year Day triplet boys, born to Mrs. Earl Warren of Dunster lane, Winchester, were reported holding their own today in a fight for survival at Richardson House of the Lying-In Hospital.

Considerably below average weight for new-born babies, the triplets are being cared for in an incubator. Their arrival put boys far ahead of girls in the Leap Year baby derby.

See 48-Hour Week Soon in Cotton Mills

WASHINGTON, March 1 (INS)—WPB officials considered action today to place a half million textile workers on a 48-hour work week to help alleviate an alarming shortage of cotton goods, reflected in retail stores by the dwindling stocks of inexpensive clothing.

The 1944 output of cotton goods may fall some two billion yards behind the peak production of 1942 unless immediate steps are taken, it was said.

Manpower shortages constitute the industry's chief problem. Currently between 40,000 and 50,000 additional workers are needed in the cotton textile mills to boost declining production.

Officials explained that some cotton mills now are operating on a 48-hour week, but the average for the industry is only 41 hours. Mills are operating 101 hours per week on a three-shift basis. The 48-hour week would increase the figure to 144 hours weekly.

In event the 48-hour week is ordered, the OPA probably would be requested to raise price ceilings to compensate for the added labor costs involved in paying overtime.

U. S. HOLDS 8 FOR THEFTS AT CAPE LAUNDRY

Eight Cape Cod residents, one a woman, have been arrested for alleged wholesale thefts of Army equipment from the Chatham Army laundry.

According to E. A. Soucy of the Boston FBI office, all eight were employed in the laundry. Arrests were authorized by U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon.

Those arrested:

Charles L. Hudson, 64, Chathamport, night watchman; Raymond H. Chase, 52, North Harwich, truck driver; Robert C. Henry, 44, Brewster, washer; Edwin F. Cahoon, 53, Chatham, a truck driver.

Allie Ellis, 54, of Brewster, a truck driver; Mrs. Annie Eldredge, 52, Harwich Center, laundress; John L. Hodgkins, 32, East Orleans, assistant superintendent of the laundry, and Francis Bassett, 18, Chatham, a washer.

They will be arraigned before U. S. Commr. George E. Lilley at New Bedford.

The investigation was conducted by FBI agents and representatives of the Provost Marshal at Camp Edwards, with U. S. Marshal J. Henry Goguen and deputies taking part in the actual arrests.

More than $1000 worth of government property was recovered, Soucy said.

Recovered articles included Army issue wearing apparel and bedding—woolen blankets, sheets, shirts and trousers, field jackets and coats.

The investigation came to a head recently when an FBI operator saw some of the missing articles on the clotheslines of one of the eight.

300,000 BACK LEGION BILL IN BAY STATE

The Massachusetts State Department of the American Legion today announced more than 300,000 signatures had been inscribed on petitions to Congress urging speedy passage of the Legion's "Bill of Rights" for World War II veterans.

State Comdr. John L. Delay also revealed 125,000 signatures from Massachusetts are already in the hands of National Comdr. Atherton, at Legion Headquarters, Washington.

A goal of 500,000 signatures is expected to be reached by the end of the week. The 351 Legion posts and auxiliaries throughout the State are distributing the petitions in their respective communities.

Commenting on the patriotic campaign Comdr. Delay said:

"The response of the citizens of Massachusetts in supporting the American Legion bill for World War II veterans, now pending before Congress, has been most gratifying. On Washington's Birthday the campaign to obtain signatures requesting support of every member of Congress of the Legion bill was launched.

"I hope that by the end of the week the 500,000 mark will be reached. I will personally take the remaining petitions to Washington and present them to the national commander, who in turn will deliver them to Congress."

Jewish Nation Plan Draws New Protests

BEIRUT, Lebanon, March 1 (AP)—The Syrian and Lebanese governments, with the support of their parliaments, have joined in protests against U. S. congressional suggestions favoring the establishment of Palestine as a Jewish nation.

(Egypt and Iraq earlier voted similar protests and at Cairo it was said that the Iraq minister already was believed to have delivered a note to the State Department in Washington.)

New Support Spurs Action on Vets' Bill

WASHINGTON, March 1—Sponsors of the omnibus "G-I bill of rights" voiced hope today that the measure will be reported out of committee to both the House and Senate by the end of this week, with action completed by Congress within two weeks at most.

As letters and telegrams continued to flood Washington with appeals that the Veterans' program be adopted, two additional members of the House of Representatives announced their support of the bill.

Rep. Frank A. Barrett of Wyoming, who served with the U. S. Army Balloon Corps in the last war, said: "The rehabilitation program is one of the most constructive measures ever presented to Congress."

Praise for the American Legion committee which drew up the "bill of rights" was expressed by Rep. Walter K. Granger of Utah, a veteran of the 11th Marines in France.

WANT ACTION NOW

Meanwhile, one of the Legion's outstanding leaders was on hand in Washington today to assist National Comdr. Warren H. Atherton in the drive to win Congress' approval of the omnibus bill. He was U. S. Atty. Sam Rorex of Little Rock, Ark., member of the Legion's executive committee.

"Failure of the Congress to enact proper legislation for the care of America's discharged service men and women at this time will mean chaos in the years immediately after the war," Rorex asserted.

"Every thoughtful American wants the Congress to enact such legislation now.

"To postpone enactment of legislation for their rehabilitation until after the war is to gamble on national disaster," the Legion leader warned, "We must not have another depression with millions of destitute and discouraged men walking our streets in idleness.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

Democrats Off On 3-Way Race

A spirited, three-cornered battle for seats at the Democratic national convention got under way today in Boston as three slates of candidates for delegates were filed for each of the city's three congressional districts.

The contest took on a free-for-all aspect with the surprise filing in the 11th district of a slate headed by Daniel H. Coakley, former executive councilor, "pledged to Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

The Roosevelt-pledged slate is opposed in this district by two groups of candidates, one, the official slate of the Democratic state committee, unpledged, the other slate pledged to former Gov. Joseph B. Ely. In districts 10 and 12, a slate of independent delegates was filed. Ely-pledged slates were filed in only seven of the state's 14 congressional districts.

LENTEN SPECIALS

YOU WOULD BE SURPRISED at the number of people who ask us each year about special Lenten meals, anxiously inquiring whether our menus will be so arranged that their preference for avoiding meat items on certain days can be met with in our cafeterias. This year there seems to be more than usual.

• Our answer, of course, is that we always have the Lenten specials in mind. In fact, for a number of weeks those busy folks in our diet kitchens have been working on them, using all their skill and resourcefulness to produce a list particularly appetizing and hearty, all wartime shortages and restrictions notwithstanding.

• And from these descriptions here on my desk I think they have done a wonderful job. By using their ingenuity, and by scouring the markets, they have hit upon a few unusual combinations, and by a special touch here and there have improved a number of the good old standbys in a manner that fairly makes one's mouth water.

• So for all of our customers who desire meatless items from now on, rest assured we have them. Not only are there fresh made and delicious salads, fish items that simply melt in your mouth, chicken and turkey on certain days, Boston baked beans, baked macaroni, and the egg specials, but a dozen or more tasty and tempting combinations that will satisfy the hungriest person.

• I am sure you will like any of them.

--The Veterans' Friend--

Discharged veterans of World War II upon their return to civilian life are faced with many problems pertaining to further hospitalization, disability claims, financial assistance, insurance payments, etc.

Among the questions being answered daily by The Veterans' Friend, Record-American and Sunday Advertiser, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston, 6, Mass., include:

Q—I received a "blue" discharge"; am I entitled to mustering-out pay after two years service? D. C., Boston.

A—No those holding "blue" discharges which signify they have been classified as "undesirables" in the armed forces are placed in the same category as dishonorably discharged men in regard to mustering-out pay.

Q—I received an honorable discharge under Sec. X. A. R. 615-360; Sec. II, War Dept. Circ. No. 39. Do I mak.e application for mustering-out pay? H. N., Lowell.

A—You requested a discharge to enter defense work, according to your papers, therefore, you are not entitled to mustering-out pay.

Q—I have been out of the Army for 5 months, but have not paid any premiums on my Nat'l Service Insurance. Is it possible at this time to reinstate the policy? A. D. W., Wollaston.

A—You have six months from date of discharge to renew lapsed policy. Reinstatement may be made by applying Veterans Administration, Federal Building, and filing (Form No. 353) accompanied by remittance to cover all premiums in arrears. Over six months a full report of medical examination will be required.

Q—I am a veteran of World War I and II. Because of a disability I was discharged from the Army recently. I am unable to get around because of illness. Can I receive medical aid from the government? J. L., Roxbury.

A—Your case should be taken up with the Veterans Bureau to determine your status, whether or not present illness was caused from service connected with either World War I or II. If not service connected you are entitled to treatment at John Adams Hospital, Chelsea, providing you are resident of Massachusetts.

Sawtelle Presses State War Bonus

Declaring Massachusetts has done "little or nothing" for veterans of World War II, Governor's Councillor John J. Sawtelle today drew up, for presentation at the Executive Council meeting, a demand that the Bay State pay veterans a state bonus.

Discharged soldiers who are citizens of the Commonwealth should be given "every additional comfort and care possible," Sawtelle said.

3 Meetings Scheduled to Speed Legion Vet Aid Plan

Announcing wholehearted support of the hospitalization and rehabilitation programs proposed by the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans, the Hyde Park Chapter of the War Parents of America today scheduled a series of three mass meetings to discuss pending legislation for war veterans.

President Cecil J. Craig, a Boston police officer, announced the first meeting will be held Tuesday, March 7, in the Hyde Park Municipal Auditorium, with national and state department officers of the VFW as speakers.

"War parents are determined to have full and accurate knowledge about the government's plans, both pending and actual, for the care of their returning service sons and daughters," President Craig said.

Speakers will be Francis X. Cotter, VFW national councilor; Samuel Williston, national liaison officer, and Frank Benoit, state commander. Councilor Michael P. Feeney, of Ward 18, and Rep. John T. Padden will represent the city and state.

Later meetings will be addressed by DAV and American Legion officers.

Fight to Save Lepke Begun on Doom Eve

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—In a last-minute attempt to save Louis (Lepke) Buchalter from Sing Sing Prison's electric chair tomorrow night, counsel for the condemned head of Murder, Inc., will begin a new legal move today which may forestall the scheduled execution.

J. Bertram Wegman, attorney for Buchalter, will apply in Federal Court for a writ of habeas corpus, contending that it was illegal for the federal government to surrender him to the state for execution while he was under sentence in the federal courts.

Should the action fail, an appeal could be taken, making it necessary for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to grant a sixth postponement of the execution.

Such a delay in Buchalter's case probably would be accompanied by similar stays for Emanuel (Wendy) Weiss and Louis Capone, lieutenants in the Brooklyn "dollar-a-death" syndicate, scheduled to die with their leader.

Buchalter, meanwhile, maintained his calm in the death house. He whiled away the time reading, writing letters and exercising. He ate heartily.

WIVES RALLIED TO BOOST CROP IN V-GARDENS

With more men being called into the armed services each day, those who are left will have to be helped by their wives and children this spring if New England's Victory Garden output is to be increased 10 per cent over last year's crop totals.

Victory Garden specialists studied this problem today as they continued their regional conference in Ford Hall, hearing reports from agricultural officials of the various states.

Arno Nehrling of the Boston Victory Garden committee outlined plans for making more efficient use of garden plots, especially by planting additional, hardy autumn vegetables to extend the season. The number of school garden projects will be considerably increased, he disclosed.

opening air bombing through naval bombardment to the landing and consolidation of positions with negligible losses."

During his battlefield inspection, MacArthur told dismounted units of the First Cavalry Division and their commander, Brig.-Gen. William C. Chase, "hold what you have taken, no matter against whatever odds. You have your teeth in him now. Don't let go."

POUND RABAUL AGAIN

Significantly, MacArthur's communique pointed out the landing places the Allies 1300 miles from the Philippines, where MacArthur first battled the Japanese and where he has vowed he will return.

Rabaul, already flanked by the Allied landing in the Green Islands 120 miles east of the New Britain base, was pounded with 161 tons of bombs in the last reported raid and for the eighth consecutive attack no enemy interceptors were encountered.

Other bombers ripped away at Hansa bay on the New Guinea coast at Wewak, main enemy base on New Guinea.

In New Delhi, India, Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten announced 4500 Japanese have been killed or wounded by Allied troops since an 8000-man enemy force attempted unsuccessfully to encircle Indian forces on the Arakan front in Burma last Feb. 4. Mopping up operations continued.

of you say it was an act of mercy? A—He said, in substance, the future of this child was very uncertain and this might be the best thing. I don't recall his exact words, but that is what I gathered he meant—that it was a lesser tragedy.

Q—Did you ever make the statement that, "I'll be damned if I'd ever see one of my children in an institution?" A—Yes, I said that. I said it to the chief (John L. Sullivan of Pittsfield police) when we were discussing all this. Wouldn't you all feel that way?

The interview with Noxon, it was brought out, occurred two days after the infant's death in the "bookroom" of the $45,000 Noxon home, and various officers took part in questioning of the defendant.

SAW CORD OVER BABY

"I started to fix the radio," he was quoted as saying. "I went to get some tubes in the pantry and I placed them on a metal tray and brought them in with a trouble light."

Discovering the radio ground wire loose, Noxon started to go to the garage for more tools, according to his statement, which went on:

"I was afraid to leave the baby. I lifted hm off the chair and put him on the floor, the wet diaper partly on the tray and a pillow under its head. When I returned from the garage I smelled something burning and saw the baby and saw a cord over his body.

"I grabbed the cord, it was around his arm—it must have been, for when I pulled the cord the arm came up. I called Mrs. Noxon. She was just coming from the kitchen with the baby's supper.

"I pulled out the plug of the cord and called Dr. Hunt."

Noxon listened eagerly as the report went on to describe how he had noticed the baby was bleeding from the nose and the report continued:

"I picked up the clothes, and then the cord. I didn't want to take any more chances. I thought—Here was this cord that killed somebody—

"I didn't want it lying around there for fear something else would happen. So I burned the cord and the clothes in the incinerator."

VOTE IN N. Y. SHOWS SHARP GAIN FOR GOP

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—Democrats retained their seat in the House from New York's 21st district yesterday after a close special election, but political leaders debated sharply its presidential campaign significance.

In the year's first test of political sentiment in President Roosevelt's home state, James H. Torrent, 69-year-old Tammany district leader and supporter of the President, defeated William S. Bennett, 73-year-old Republican, by 1571 votes of approximately 22,000 cast.

Bennett was endorsed by Gov. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie.

The district, in Manhattan's upper West Side and including part of Harlem, is normally heavily Democratic.

Harrison Spangler, Republican national committee chairman, commented:

"The Republicans have gone from 33 per cent of the vote in 1942 to 47 or 48 per cent in yesterday's election in this typical district controlled by Tammany. That would indicate a Republican landslide in November."

Louisiana Voters Reject Huey 'Ghost'

NEW ORLEANS, March 1 (AP)—Louisiana Democratic voters rejected yesterday a group of candidates for state office who advocated a return to the "liberal government of the late Huey P. Long" and elevated to the governorship Jimmie H. Davis, the author of "You Are My Sunshine."

In laying the ghost of "Longism," the voters also defeated the bid for state and party power of the "old regular" organization of New Orleans and its leader, Mayor Robert S. Maestri.

New Plan for Soldier Ballot Drafted by Conferees

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP) —Senate-House conferees dressed up an armed service federal ballot plan today, and left it on the doorstep of the States.

The compromise — federal ballots for the armed forces only if the States agree to their use—was born after more than two weeks of argument.

"I'm afraid of it," snapped Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi.

"I doubt very much whether it is entirely acceptable to any of us," said Sen. Green (D.) of Rhode Island.

The new plan provides:

1—A federally-distributed short-form ballot for the armed forces to vote for President, Vice-President and members of Congress.

2—It can be used by voters of states which have their own absentee ballot machinery only if the governors certify before Aug. 1 that the federal form is acceptable under state law.

3—Voters from states which have no absentee voting law can use the federal form only if the governor certifies that it will be welcomed as a bona fide vote.

4—No serviceman or woman can get a federal ballot unless the voter has applied for a state ballot and swears it hasn't been delivered by Oct. 1.

Have a Coca-Cola = Hallo, Bracie

(HELLO, BROTHER)

...a way to say "Pardner" to a visiting Pole

When a Polish flyer says Hallo, Bracie, he greets you as a brother. The American host means the same thing when he says Have a "Coke", whether he offers it away from home or at home from his own family refrigerator. Everywhere the enjoyment of Coca-Cola is the pleasant expression of friendly comradeship. Around the world, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the global high-sign of the kind-hearted.

Jobs Hasten Veterans' Rehabilitation

A WAR VETERAN'S rehabilitation is determined in large part by the attitude of his former employer. If the attitude is friendly and the veteran recovers the job he left when he joined the armed forces, he makes the transition to civil life easily and effortlessly.

But if the attitude is hostile and the employer forgets the fact that without soldiers and sailors there might be no employment for anybody, the veteran too often becomes a hopeless, disillusioned person who magnifies his problems to such an extent that he cannot cope with them.

These truths were forcefully illustrated in Boston a few days ago by Dr. Clarence D. Selby, medical consultant for the General Motors Corporation.

Dr. Selby decried and deplored the widespread emphasis on the so-called neuro-psychiatric condition of discharged service men.

He said the General Motors Company paid no attention to the release record of a veteran, but worked on the assumption that he was normal, with a limited physical capacity.

The average neuro-psychiatric case, he explained, was simply the instance of a man's worrying about some physical or imagined mental defect.

Consequently the best treatment was to allow him to talk to a person who knew how to listen.

When the veteran received this opportunity and was then given a job with wages equal to, and sometimes surpassing, his prewar scale, he immediately realized there was nothing abnormal in his make-up and he forgot his troubles.

In a word, the veteran was ON THE SURE ROAD TO REHABILITATION.

Dr. Selby further revealed that the General Motors Company is currently employing 11,000 veterans of this war, 6000 of them being former employes.

And fewer than 100 of the former employes have been unable to resume their positions!

All employers should profit by the General Motors Company's intelligent program.

If they do, we shall have happier veterans and fewer bemedaled apple-sellers after this war.

An Urgent Wartime Appeal

THE MOST IMPORTANT campaign ever conducted by the Red Cross opens today in Massachusetts and the other forty-seven States.

Because war has increased the tasks of the great humanitarian organization a thousand fold, the people of Greater Boston will be asked to contribute $4,641,000, an all-time high.

This means that every person with a job or income should more than double his previous donations to the Red Cross.

When possible, individuals should try to give the equivalent of a day's pay, even if such generosity obliges them to make sacrifices and dispense with luxuries.

The Red Cross is our closest link with our fighting sons in the military camps at home and on the battlefields abroad.

It is with them constantly and very frequently saves their lives and restores them to health through the use of blood plasma and medicines difficultly and expensively obtained.

Mr. Norman H. Davis, national chairman of the Red Cross, does not exaggerate the need when he says:

"Fateful days are ahead for our nation and our people. To keep faith with our men in uniform we on the home front must carry the Red Cross appeal through to a successful conclusion. No sacrifice is too great."

Certainly no sacrifice is too great for lads who are sparing nothing, not even their lives, for us.

Time to Use the Rod

A PARTICULARLY bad form of juvenile delinquency is the habit of stoning passing trains.

It has caused persons who travel by rail an abundance of needless worry during the past year.

And on a number of occasions it came very near resulting in serious accidents.

But last Sunday a dramatic incident made train-stoning stand out dramatically in its full viciousness.

An Army hospital train carrying medical patients from overseas to the new Cushing General Hospital in Framingham passed through Brighton, AND WAS THERE STONED BY A HALF-DOZEN YOUNGSTERS!

It is hard to imagine anything that could arouse and anger the parents of the culprits more than this.

And it is profoundly to be hoped that the parental wrath resulted in a few overdue whippings that will be long remembered.

Perhaps the man who first warned, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," was the occupant of a stoned vehicle.

Certainly no one else has devised a more effective medicine.

TAKE the belief that a great many more boys than girls are born when a country is at war. It doesn't work out that way in the United States. For example, in 1925, when there was no war here, there were 16,604 males born to every 10,000 females. In 1942 there were born 10,584 males to 10,000 females. There was a war on, but the birth of boys was actually below the average.

SIDELIGHTS: A business magazine reporting that sale of 2000 Nylon hose at 79 cents a pair that recently took place in a Chicago department store states in part: "The event left a crew of exhausted sales girls, a floor littered with ripped off heels and one shopper who angrily reported the mysterious loss of her girdle" . . . Probably won't be any new automobiles manufactured before 1946. How is your bus holding out? . . . Until recently some men in the armed forces with 15-day furloughs have used up as much as 10 days in traveling. Now the furloughs are lengthened by the number of days necessary for travel. So a 15-day furlough really means 15 days at home.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Don't you think Rollo Peters, Otis Skinner and George M. Cohan were better actors than Arnold Daly? A—No, sir. Otis Skinner, however, was nearly as good as Daly, especially in "Kismet." Rollo Peters was good as Romeo but is not a great actor. Mr. Cohan suffered considerably by comparison when he followed Arnold Daly in the principal role in the "Tavern." Q—Who introduced the song "All Bound Round With a Woolen String?" A—You are going a little too far back for me. Q—Didn't "Chicago" O'Brien, a former bricklayer, make a fortune betting on horses to show? A—That's what some people say. I was not acquainted with Mr. O'Brien or his activities. However, I have been told he did not always bet show. At Saratoga he bet $60,000 to win $5000 from Tom Shaw, the well known commissioner, on a horse named Chance Shot in a three-horse race. Tom had the animal listed at 1-15 but he gave O'Brien 1-12. The bet was to win. Chance Shot finished second.

WOMEN, ETC.: What is the percentage of women who marry for love? It probably is not as high as you think. It might even be lower than the percentage of women who marry for economic security. Right now divorce records are being broken in all sections of the country. The women who seem most eager for divorce are those who have recently become career girls and who, with a pay check of their own, are no longer dependent on a husband for support.

PASSING BY: Dominic Felix Ameche. Professionally known as Don Ameche. He has four sons; just like Bing Crosby . . . Gracie Fields. British chanteuse. Started her career as a vocalist in a film theater 38 years ago. In 1918 she appeared in a show called "Mr. Tower of London." This piece ran for seven years and was played for over 4000 performances. Gracie made her first New York appearance at the Palace in 1930 . . . John Boles. The version of "Back Street" in which he appeared with Irene Dunne ran for over three years in Paris. This picture was a great favorite with the "pretty ladies" of the Champs Elysees, most of whom saw it at least 15 times.

TEETH, ETC.: As to the claims that certain people have grown a third set of teeth, an eminent dental expert informs me what happens is all the parts of the second set have not been removed. That is, a small part of the second set, still capable of growth, has been left in by a careless dentist. Sounds reasonable. Yet it would seem the dentists who have reported patients growing a third set of teeth would know a new tooth from an old one. For the present, this department will keep an open mind on the third set of teeth question.

ASIDES: Suppose you were going to England right now. Even if that country is again being heavily bombed by the Nazis, you could get an insurance policy that would be the equivalent of betting you a 1000 to 1 you wouldn't be killed . . . It was Dryden who said: "Beware the fury of a patient man." Politicians and others having dealings with Senator Barkley should keep this observation in mind . . . If you marry somebody who has already been married once, do not marry anybody who was happy in the first marriage. Marry somebody who was unhappy. So states a matrimonial expert who insists his statement is based on a long study of the matter.

"I want you to notify Colonel Cole to stop his attack until we get more map pins!"

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Tuesday—As I walked a couple of miles yesterday afternoon, I stopped at several houses. In one, the father was about to go up for his physical examination for induction into the Army. His two children are too young to know that perhaps their expected little brother or sister will not find any father at home. The mother told me firmly that she was not going to worry until after the physical examination.

This is the first home of her own she has ever had and they have just had it painted and fixed. But what has to be, has to be! A photograph of two brothers stood on the mantelpiece. One has been in the Southwest Pacific for many months.

THE NEXT HOUSE I stopped at has one son just drafted. He is leaving a wife and two babies, but he hopes his wife can take his job and he is glad to go.

The next house on my calling list has a boy on a destroyer in the Southwest Pacific. He has a wife, a baby and a mother and father worrying about him.

At the Red Cross meeting in Poughkeepsie in the evening the high school children sang "The Ballad of America." I felt I had seen much of that America as I walked along the country roads earlier in the day.

IT MUST PLEASE Earl Robinson to know that his song, "The Ballad of America," is being sung more and more often by the college and high school student groups of our country.

I thought this audience was a fine demonstration of the faithfulness of Red Cross followers. I have always made my contributions to the National Red Cross in Washington, but I think I shall have to send a special gift to Hyde Park so as to be associated with our own county.

"Why, of course, I mean every word I say. Why do you suppose I came over 3000 miles down here?"

Hollywood . . . . By Louella O. Parsons

Distributed by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—The biggest movie news I've heard in weeks comes direct from the horse's mouth in New York, so to speak. Billy Rose has sold 20th Century-Fox the rights to "Carmen Jones" and the price is sensational.

I am told Fox pays him $500,000 and a percentage of the receipts. I haven't verified this with Darryl Zanuck or Joseph Schenck, but my information comes from such an authentic source I have no hesitancy in printing the story.

Rosalind Russell

Lena Horne, I am told, will have the role of Carmen in the movie. She is far prettier than Muriel Smith, whom I saw in the New York stage show, but, of course she hasn't the operatic voice of the Smith girl. There are two Carmens in the New York cast and they alternate. The Smith girl was singing the night I was there. She isn't pretty, but how she sings that Bizet music!

★ ★ ★

SISTER KENNY long-distanced Rosalind Russell after reading an erroneous item which stated that Rosalind didn't want to play in the Kenny biography. Of course, there wasn't a grain of truth in such a story. On the contrary, Sister Kenny reaches here March 11 to be Roz's house guest and it's my guess Roz will do the Kenny movie when she moves to Warner Brothers Studio. Yes, she has signed a term contract with Jack Warner, and her first on the Warner program is Louise Dandall Pierson's "Roughly Speaking," the novel already announced. I had a long talk with Roz at Joan Bennett's party and she told me she read Mary McCarthy's original script and liked it a lot.

★ ★ ★

SHIRLEY TEMPLE will not star in "Cabbages and Kings" because David Selznick will not lend her to Mike Todd, even though he did like the play for her. He figures Shirley should be off the stage for a year and that she is now at her most attractive age and should make pictures. David says the little Temple is at her best in "Since You Went Away" and that her fan mail has not diminished since she grew up.

GWEN PICKFORD, Mary's niece, and her husband, Lieut. Bud Ernst of the Army Air Force, are expecting a baby in July. That's really interesting news, since Gwen is the daughter of the late Lottie Pickford. She has been living at Pickfair since the war because her husband is away so much, and so is Lieut. Buddy Rogers, Mary's husband. Pickfair has been the scene of many interesting events, weddings, receptions, dinners for distinguished guests, but this will be the first birth. Mary is very much excited over Gwen's blessed event, since she raised her niece and has always been devoted to her.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Helen Mueller, the model who nearly married Mickey Rooney, becomes the bride of Bill Geyer, former star football player and now in the Navy, March 15; Benita and Ronnie Coleman were at Joan Bennett's party and Benita said the baby is expected in July Never saw two people as happy over a coming event; Joan and Walter Wanger's lovely Stephanie was on exhibition; Charles and Pat Boyer proudly told about the weight of their son; Mrs. Lee Bowman joined in the conversation with a word about her baby, and, of course, Rosalind Russell told all about Lance. She said she expects Capt. Freddie Brisson home on leave next week; Gary and Rockie Cooper were there and Gary, not to be outdone by the new parents, said Maria is becoming an accomplished swimmer and rider.

NEW YORK, March 1—Kay Kyser has a new dolly. She's Ruth Brady, former showgirl, now a cinema starlet . . . Vincent Youmans, the composer, is ailing. A serious throat condition . . . Lillian Feitner, the former deb who divorced ork leader Ray Benson, is smitten again—and the lad is another East Side maestro . . . Intimates say Deanna Durbin's next husband will be a well-known producer-director . . . Washington talk is that Sumner Welles is due for a diplomatic assignment to one of our Latin-American neighbors . . . Mary Astor is telling friends she has a bridegroom all picked out, but won't reveal his name . . . The Hannah Williams-Jack Dempsey divorce case may be reopened—by her . . . Earl Carroll has purchased the defunct "Artists and Models" from Lou Walters and will reopen it as "The Vanities"

PATRICIA LAMBERTI, who broke her ankle while under that prize-fight manager's hypnotic spell, has hired an attorney and will ask $50,000 damages . . . Don't be astonished if Mayor LaGuardia turns up in one of the City Center operas some evening carrying a spear . . . Ina Claire read 46 playscripts while she was here. Couldn't find a thing to act in . . . Chili Williams has grown "chili" toward millionaire George Guinle . . . Insiders are betting that Ingrid Bergman walks off with this year's Oscar for emoting . . . Mayris Chaney, Mrs. Roosevelt's protege, is dancing again—this time at a Hollywood restaurant . . . Star Shine By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, March 1—Col. Frank Capra is now busy making a picture called "The Battle of China" . . . Although theaters are doing a big business, it is difficult to get new and more seats. There's a priority on them. The Fox Uptown Theater, for example, is now using seats that were formerly in the Roxy Theater. And Warners, unable to get new seats for certain projection rooms, had to put in camp chairs . . .

Marlene Dietrich

Lieut.-Col. Anatole Litvak is making a film called "America Goes to War" . . . Marlene Dietrich tried out her act at the Hollywood Canteen and was a big hit . . . John Latouche, who wrote "Ballad for Americans," is now a storekeeper, 3/c, in the Seabees . . . In the picture "Crime Doctor," playing at the Hawaii, there is a scene showing a cellar full of Scotch. The other evening a man in the audience shouted, "That's why I can't get any. It's all there."

★ ★ ★

BROADWAY THEATER comes to Hollywood first by way of Random House, and this week the published version of John Van Druten's hit play, "The Voice Of The Turtle," arrived.

I immediately made a reservation to attend, in my fashion, "The Voice of the Turtle."

It was a rainy evening, about eight-twenty. I sat down in the living room in a comfortable chair. This was my aisle seat. There would be no late comers climbing over me, no people behind me, chatting. When I looked at my watch again, it was almost eight-thirty. Curtain time. I got up, put out the house lights, switched on the reading lamp, which were the footlights. Curtain going up!

I picked up the copy of "The Voice of the Turtle" and started reading. I could hear Margaret Sullivan as Sally Middleton saying, "Stay, Tybalt, stay! Romeo, I come!" The play was on.

SOON IT was almost as if I were at the Morosco Theater, actually watching Miss Sullivan and Elliot Nugent. But this way it was more patriotic, the government not wanting people to travel merely for pleasure.

Before I realized it, I had reached the end of the first act. They have an intermission in the theater, so I decided to have one in my living room. I got up, went to the kitchen, got myself a coke, and didn't have to battle any crowds in the lobby.

About 10:45 I finished reading the play. I turned out the footlights, I mean the reading lamp:

I had a wonderful evening, and if John Van Druten wants a quote, he can say in the advertisements that "The Voice of the Turtle" is a hit in Skolsky's living room, also!

The War Goes On

By George E. Sokolsky

IT IS notable that nothing unfavorable to our arms happened in the week of the congressional revolt. No American forces stopped in their tracks. No American soldiers failed to fight. No supplies ceased to move. Bombings were reported in the Pacific and over Germany. In fact, during one of the days of the domestic political crisis, it was reported that the German air defenses had been shattered. The war moved on.

That is the practical answer to fear that changing political leaders during a military war endangers the country. At no moment in his political career has Mr. Roosevelt's leadership been as weak or his future in as much danger as when Senator Barkley said:

"Mr. President, how small a piece of crust is this, and how inedible is it, containing, as it does, $2,250,000,000? How small a piece of crust is this, and how inedible is it? This 'small piece of inedible crust' is more than the national debt of the United States government prior to World War I. This 'small piece of inedible crust' is more than twice the annual cost of the federal government prior to World War I.

"THIS 'SMALL PIECE OF INEDIBLE CRUST' constitutes a sum enough to pay the entire $1,350,000,000 which Congress last week authorized to be expended for the relief of human suffering in occupied territories, and still leaves $1,000,000,000. This 'small piece of inedible crust' constitutes a sum of money large enough to buy many airplanes and tanks, and many millions of rounds of ammunition. It is large enough to establish many hospitals for the relief of those injured in this war. This 'small piece of inedible crust' constitutes a sum large large enough to pay two-thirds of the cost of the mustering-out pay bill for members of the armed services of the United States, which Congress passed only a few weeks ago, and which the President himself recommended and signed.

"Mr. President, to refuse this 'small piece of inedible crust' is the same as if a starving man were to say to his would-be benefactor, 'unless you serve me with a full eight-course dinner, I will not eat a bite.'"

This is a complete negation of the Hopkins-Morgenthau doctrine of "spend and spend, tax and tax," impoverish and impoverish, level and level—a doctrine of social revolution. This is a warning that the Congress will no longer tolerate the New Deal which Mr. Roosevelt has already discarded in name if not entirely in fact.

BUT IT DID NOT affect the war an iota. With brilliant political acumen, Mr. Roosevelt realized that as the war must move on, his next political act had to be one related exclusively to the war. His first act then, whether from the White House or the hideout, was to take up the vexed question of deferments.

Congress should long ago have gone deeply and unmercifully into the problem of why single young men—indispensibles—serve in the administration of government and in industrial positions while married men, fathers of children, are being sent into the armed forces by draft boards more concerned with quotas than with the equities of the family unit.

THE WAR GOES ON and will go on to victory no matter what happens to any individual among our 135,000,000. It goes on because generals, admirals, soldiers and sailors of every rank, civilians devoted to war tasks, and the spirit of our people never falter. The Americans differ from the Germans in that. The Americans are not a one-man nation. No one in this country is indispensible. No one is beyond replacement. This is a nation of free talent—that marches under the flag of no man unless it be the symbolic Uncle Sam.

Wednesday, March 1, 1944

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Magnetic personality. You like to excel in whatever you undertake, but are innately modest, and often not sufficiently aggressive for consistent success. Likely to have sensitive skin. Should avoid taking on too many of the cares of others. Also guard against excesses in luxuries and dreaming when there are everyday practical things to be done. When your inner talents and abilities are thoroughly awakened you can accomplish wonderful things. Birthdate: William Dean Howells, American novelist.

Bath Your Fortune, If You Use Right Oil

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

GLAMOUR may be a done-to-death routine, but I love it, don't you? . . . and there even is glamour in bathing . . . if you know how. One of the most efficient short-cuts to relaxation is through the bath . . . but in this simple pursuit after cleanliness . . . you can achieve the luxurious and leisure indulgence of sybaritic joy by using a bath oil . . . a lingering fragrance to produce an uppercrust feeling.

Cleanliness is, of course, next to Godliness, but even cleanliness can be glorified . . . and Judy O'Grady is transformed into the Colonel's Lady after thoroughly relaxing in a dreamy, perfumed breath.

The Bard of Avon classically reminded us that the world is a stage, and, we the actors upon it . . . and who doesn't like to playact . . . some of the time . . . especially in trying times of stress and strain.

After a hard day's work and a busy home-front war schedule . . . when relaxation is a much-needed tonic for weary bodies . . . a gal has got a right to capture the wanton indulgence of a goldbrick existence . . . if only for a brief few moments in her tub.

And, I know of nothing more conducive to that rich, lazy feeling than a bath essence . . . not only for the afternoon or evening tub, but for the invigorating shower. Just ten drops of this precious secret fragrance poured into the tub as the water rushes in . . . and the ordinary bath is transformed into a gaiety beyond imagination . . . enveloping the body from top to toe with mysterious perfume . . . so hauntingly lovely.

If you're a shower addict . . . smooth this richly blended essence over the skin before going to bed at night . . . Sleep with a heavenly fragrance all about . . . and in the morning . . . enjoy the richness and perfume of the oil while showering. And you will truthfully sing . . . "Oh what a glorious feeling . . . everything going my way . . ." And, will you feel pretty special throughout the day! . . .

Most of us lead pretty humdrum existences these days . . . with our scheduled more or less cut out for us in routine regularity. To break the monotony of such daily plans . . . a bath in this de luxe manner will exalt you to the heavens . . . and in your mind there will weave a spell of sleepy lagoons and a bright, mellow moon.

For the name of this bath essence, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A DREAMY, PERFUMED BATH is something new in glamour . . . but it is one way to capture the haunting loveliness of a rich, lazy feeling . . . as who doesn't these humdrum days of routine regularity. Cleanliness is more than a ritual with this exalted type of bathing . . . a de luxe stimulation for tired bodies.

Respect Your Elders

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—I was confused as to what to do in this circumstance. I am 25 years old, and the other day at a tea an elderly woman, and a man were introduced to me at the same time. I did not arise when I acknowledged the introduction. After the party I was embarrassed about this, thinking that although I should not rise when a man is introduced to me, perhaps I should have risen when I was introduced to the woman who was so much older than I am. What should I have done, Mrs. Beeckman?

RITA.

You should have risen, to show your deference to the older woman when you were introduced to her.

Bolero's the Thing to Wear

International News Photo

HAVE YOU A LITTLE BOLERO in your new wardrobe? No smart collection should be without one . . . since the bolero is coming back with a bang this spring. This all-wool fabric in hound's tooth check is smartly accented with satin binding . . . and the slimming skirt features a kick pleat, front and back. Note the pocket effects on the stunning jacket . . . and the scarf-like neckline to give the costume a softening contrast.—R. M.

Philandering Hubby One Wife's Problem

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I've been married seven years and have two children. Ever since we've been married I know for certain that my husband has been going out with other women. When I accuse him of it he denies everything, although I have seen things.

I can't bear the thought of living with him any longer, and would like to know if, by law, I could take enough of the furniture to establish a home for my children and myself, and then get a job and be independent of him. I know he never would consent to this. He won't leave the home and I certainly will not leave the children and home to him.

I have a father who could live with me. He has no other home, and I'm all he has. My husband gets along with my father, but father knows my husband doesn't do right by the children and me.

P. M. M.

You should consult the Legal Aid Society in your home city. You'll find their address in the telephone directory. They will tell you how much of the household equipment you may have to establish the new home you contemplate. Before taking this step, it would be well to consider what skill you have which would enable you to earn a living for yourself and children.

Don't leap before you look.

Sawed-Off Spring Coats Come in Many Lengths

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE sawed-off topper is a coat I keep reminding you is important in spring styles, because it is growing by leaps and bounds into top-flight popularity. And such a coat has many uses in any wardrobe.

There isn't any law about the exact length of the sawed-off topper. It may be finger-tip length, wrist length, or even just hip length.

For immediate wear, and good against March wind and storms, the coat in our sketch is a good model. It is about finger-tip length, and is made of warm, very lightweight wool fleece in a shade of almond green. It has a collar and lapels of brown caracul fur, and the collar can be turned up around the ears when you need extra comfort there. Big brown bone buttons fasten it down the front.

AGAINST GRUMBLING

"It is better to light a candle than to curse the darkness," says a very simple and very wise Chinese proverb. Tonic words!

Casserole Tricks

By MARTHA LEE

LENT IS LONG and, for many of us, quite uncompromising. When company drops in, being able to urge them to stay and share the fish we bought, maybe just for two, requires a little resourcefulness.

After all, the piece-de-resistance can't suddenly be changed to creamed chicken or corned beef hash from the otherwise reliable emergency shelf on a fast day, can it?

One way to make that small amount of fish go further is to prepare a casserole dish. And here's a recipe that turns the trick beautifully—with only three-quarters of a pound of fish fillets serving four to six persons.

BAKED FISH CASSEROLE

⅔ cup rice
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
3 tbsp. salad oil
¾ cup fish fillets
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tomatoes, chopped
1½ cups chicken stock or bouillon cubes dissolved in boiling water
2 onions, minced
2 tsp. minced parsley
Pinch saffron, if liked

Parboil rice 10 minutes. Sprinkle fillet with salt and pepper and cut into small pieces. Fry garlic and onion in oil until soft and yellowed. Add drained rice, and stir until golden brown. Stir in tomatoes, diced fish, tomatoes, parsley and saffron if liked. Add broth, or stock made by dissolving one or two bouillon cubes in boiling water. Mix well and transfer to a well greased casserole. Cover and bake in a moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Leftover cooked string beans or peas can be mixed right in with the fish and tomatoes, and a pinch of saffron added at the same time gives the dish an authentic and exciting Spanish touch.

And this popular fish pudding offers another suggestion for "stretching." This recipe uses a pound of fillets to serve six.

SCANDINAVIAN FISH PUDDING

1 lb. fillet of haddock
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ tsp. flour
1¾ cups milk
¼ tsp. nutmeg
3 tbsp. melted butter

Wash fillets and dry thoroughly with cloth. Cut in small pieces and put through meat grinder, using the finest knife. Add salt, flour, nutmeg, and pepper to fish and put through grinder 6 times. Add milk carefully, stirring until well blended. Stir in melted butter. Pour in greased 1½-quart dish, baking in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes, until firm. Serve with lemon butter. Makes 6 servings. Buttered fine dry crumbs may be sprinkled over top before baking.

LEMON BUTTER

¼ cup butter
1 tbsp. minced parsley
1 tbsp. lemon juice
Dash of cayenne

Cream butter, add parsley, lemon juice and cayenne and mix well. Makes about ¼ cup sauce.

FISH PUDDING WITH PARSLEY BUTTER

⅔ lb. fillet of haddock
¼ cups boiling water
1 very small onion
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. salt
2 beaten eggs
1 cup medium white sauce
½ cup crushed corn flaks
1 tbsp. minced parsley
¼ tbsp. butter
2 tbsp. water

Cook haddock in boiling salted water 3 minutes; drain. Force fish and onion through food chapper, using coarse blade. Add fish and seasonings to white sauce and heat thoroughly. Coll slightly and add eggs. Place in well-greased casserole lined with ¼ cup cornflakes; sprinkle remaining cornflakes over top. Bake in hot oven (400 to 450 deg. F.) 30 minutes. Cook parsley in 2 tablespoons water 2 minutes; add butter and stir until butter melts. Serve over pudding. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Smart Set

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BRADFORD SIMMONS of Baltimore are looking forward to welcoming another Boston socialite daughter-in-law into their family circle. A few years ago their eldest son, Edward, married Peggy Hardwick of Brookline, daughter of the famous Harvard football star, "Tack" Hardwick.

Now pretty Jean Roberts of Winchester is coming in for all the good wishes of the Simmons family and her many friends in post deb circles. She and Lieut. William E. Simmons, USA, have just set the date and will be married March 11 in the Church of the Epiphany, Winchester.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Roberts of Winchester and Annisquam, Jean will be given in marriage by her dad, and Mr. Simmons will be his son's best man. The reception will be at the Winchester Country Club.

Betty Roberts, Jean's debutante sister, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids are Ann Clarke of Brookline, Louise Barr and Rebecca Farnsworth of Winchester, and Mrs. William H. Harris of Baltimore, sister of the groom.

Jean graduated from Beaver and Edgewood Park Junior College and made her debut at the Algonquin Club in 1940. Bill is a Harvard 1939 graduate, member of Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770 and Owl, and before entering the service taught at Kent School in Connecticut.

But their dad, the famous naturalist, has been ill, and they accompanied him to Miami Beach for rest and sunshine. Julia, we hear, is expected to return momentarily

When Lieut Comdr. Robert Montgomery and the Lyneham Crockers attended "The Highland Fling" at the Wilbur this week, intermission smokers could talk of nothing but the handsome movie star and how lucky the Crockers were to have had him for a dinner and theater guest.

Announcement

Effective March 1, 1944, night rates on long distance telephone calls will apply from 6 P. M. to 4:30 A. M., instead of from 7 P. M. to 4:30 A. M. as formerly. Night rates will continue to be in effect all day on Sundays.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS

When making a long distance call it is well to keep in mind the difference in time in various parts of the country. For example, when it is 6 P. M. in New England, it is 5 P. M. in the Central states, 4 P. M. in the Mountain states and 3 P. M. on the Pacific coast. Day or night rates apply according to the time at the place where the call originates.

It is a good idea also to decide in advance whether you wish to call "station-to-station" or "person-to-person." Initial rates for "station-to-station" calls are lower than corresponding "person-to-person" rates. For more detailed information on how to make long distance calls, and for examples of rates, please refer to your telephone directory.

Deanna Again Hits the Mark

DEANNA DURBIN

Universal's Deanna Durbin is again in the groove in that studio's newest starrer for her, "His Butler's Sister," now in its third big week at Keith Memorial.

Deanna is irresistible, and Pat O'Brien and Franchot Tone, as her brother and sweetheart, respectively, turn in first rate performances. The story is a honey, abounding in comedy and charm. Deanna's songs are all sure-fire, including Victor Herbert's "When You're Away," "In the Spirit of the Moment," an aria from the opera, "Turandot," and a Russian medley.

On the same bill is "Weekend Pass," with Martha O'Driscoll

Opera Accepting Mail Orders

Word comes from the Boston Opera Association that advance mail orders will be accepted at their headquarters beginning tomorrow morning for the current Metropolitan Opera season at the Boston Opera House, April 10 to 15.

The association wishes to remind the public that tickets purchased prior to April 1 are not subject to the additional 10 per cent tax which, according to the recently approved tax bill, will be added to all tickets purchased after that date. The association wishes to emphasize that this sale is for mail orders only.

Copies of the complete repertoire, together with all ticket information, may be secured from the Boston Opera Association offices, Berkeley building.

'Etude' Replaces 'Red Poppy' on Opera Bill

"Etude," a new ballet in three movements based on the first and fifth Brandenburg Concerti and the second movement of the suite for flute and orchestra by Johann Sebastian Bach, will replace "Red Poppy" on Tuesday's opening night bill of the Ballet Russe engagement at the Opera House.

'JANIE' RARE BIT OF FUN AT COLONIAL

By JOYCE DANA

The G. I. Joes have a time for themselves in "Janie" at the Colonial, and you will, too, if the amusing and amazing pranks of adolescents give you that old nostalgic feeling.

For the pretty little junior misses and their uniformed beaux put their elders in their place in Brock Pemberton's production about the bobby sock set, and while it's no monumental contribution to the drama, it's a lot of good, clean, wholesome fun.

Little Miss Gertrude Beach is the winsome Janie, who almost passes up her adoring "Scooper" Nolan—a sort of composite Henry Aldrich and Mickey Rooney—for the khaki-clad boy from Yale who comes to visit her family with his blonde, widowed predatory mama.

Mama does all right, too. An eligible bachelor who's been successfully dodging matrimony for years has his mind changed before he knows it. And while he, his fiancee and Janie's parents are celebrating the impending nuptials at the Country Club, the boys from Camp Longstreet and the girls in Janie's class at high school have a party.

Most of the fun takes place in the basement rumpus room, and it's as innocent as a small town strawberry festival for a while. But some enterprising lads discover Papa Colburn's Scotch and bourbon, and unaccustomed as they are to any beverage stronger than "coke" that party turns out to be something for the records.

Into this melee walk papa and mama. You might think they have something of a problem there. But playwrights Josephine Benham and Herschel Williams solve it neatly if not too logically, and when it's all over you've had some laughs, which seems to be what everybody wants these days.

"Broadway's Voice," by Dorothy Kilgallen, daily in the Boston American.

BETTY HUTTON, exchanging a straight dramatic role for her jitterbug cavortings, surprises her devotees and detractors alike with the excellence of her performance in the Metropolitan Theater's holdover, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek."

Scone Stone Seat Of Scottish Kings

The Scone Stone, referred to in "A Highland Fling," the Wilbur's new comedy, is the historic seat on which the old Scottish kings were crowned. According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, it remained at Scone Abbey from 840 A.D. until 1296, when the English King, Edward I, had it conveyed to London. It now rests beneath the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey.

'Gang's All Here' On Modern Screen

mother, Mrs. Viola B. And Sergt. Albert McAvoy of 56 Commonwealth ave., Boston, who used to help his dad, Edward J., run the Copley Plaza concessions (barbershop, Swedish baths, et cetera).

These ground technicians feel themselves, and are, as much a part of the fighting unit as the pilot who operates the intricate network of electric nerves and steel muscles that make up these Thunderbolts.

They see him off like fond parents, and wait just as lovingly for his return. No men in the Army give more unstintingly of their time, devotion and craft.

So there were appreciative little yelps, "Ahhh, right in the ellybay" or "lookit that wing chip off," as tiny, hardly distinguishable jets of white smoke came from Vitali's No. 1 victim, and he turned over with deceptive laziness and headed down like a stricken duck.

The camera did not follow his final swoop and crack up against the ground, or his funeral pyre of orange flame with its aura of blueish white mist.

I told yesterday of Vitali's impressionistic story of his first two "kills;" how the second exploded in mid air ("just like the Hollywood movies," he said) and literally came apart in mid air like a spilled picture puzzle. Of No. 3 he said simply, "That exploded, too," as though that concluded the tale, "Poof" and then oblivion.

So tonight I watched closely as the third Folke-Wulf fighter came between his gun sights in a kind of a gnat dance. For these photos were snapped at some 400 mph, while twisting and gyrating 18,000 feet above the ground. An enemy aircraft doesn't wriggle obligingly into the fire circle, any more than a mouse rushes docily into the claws of a cat.

There it was, the Nazi squirming convulsively, and the vibration of Vitali's guns blurring its image. There was no sound in the little projection room other than the whir of the projector's gears but, when the pictures were actually taken, there must have been a savage bedlam of motors and guns. ("No," said Vitali. "In your deep concentration you don't hear a thing.")

A converging torrent of steel was pouring into the enemy fighter, and it was hard to realize, in the quiet comfort of this little hut, that here was the visual record of one human organism being destroyed by another human—as is the jungle law.

"Oh, you don't feel that way about it," protested Vitali logically, "there's nothing personal in a dog fight—it's you or him." He indicated the practice sighting apparatus in a skeleton cockpit, and the miniature target plane, where the pilots sometimes simulate deflection shots by the hour. "Its just like doing that," he said. No emotion! No hate! No fear No exultation!

Body in Wreckage

"No time for feeling," said slim Chet, who has the calm courtesy of a bank teller, "no chance to analyze sensation . . . But when you see your target explode . . . well, it does feel something like shooting a basket from the floor in a tight game." (Ed note—Chet played basketball for Dedham High in '37.)

So now, as I watched, I could see a powder-puff of white smoke squirt from the belly of the No. 3 FW and then suddenly the film was fogged, as though a giant photographer's flash bulb flickered, point blank: and blindingly.

As the film cleared, objects—dark and unrelated, swam around a central, misshapen core—leisurely as though floating in milk. Somewhere in that wreckage was a pilot's body, transformed into cold clay, and sent back to the earth which bore him. And one seemed to hear a voice say, "Man's native element is not the air."

So the cinematic record rattled on, abruptly merging into "Episode No. 4"—the one Vitali had measured like a lethal tailor, but whom capricious fate saved because his ammunition ran out at the moment before the kill.

So here the film showed the Nazi flitting over tree tops and skimming over farm fields.

Chet's Big Worry

"Got 'im on the deck," commented 2nd Lieut. Gerard F. Burke of 57 Peter Parley rd., Jamaica Plain. It was like setting up an open hockey goal for Bill Cowley to shoot. Another short burst and . . . oblivion!

But fortune's little dice turned up Heinie's lucky number. The picture stopped abruptly and so had Vitali's guns. The bullet-packed F-W fled Vitali—each skimmed home an apple-toss above the ground, one glad to be alive, the other regretting a missed opportunity.

"Do you know what Chet's great worry was? asked Lieut. Bob L'Heureux of 17 Edwards st., Beverly. "He blamed himself for wasting ammunition on those first three 'bandits.' He thought he'd catch hell for bum technique."

Outside the distant growl of the raid sirens began their trailing "owwwWOWWWWowwww." Far away aircraft batteries began a dull rumble, and fingers of searching light scanned the skies. Somewhere in the velvet night sky with its yellow moon, the Luftwaffe was coming over in a tease-raid.

But the Americans paid no attention. They were day fighters and escort fliers. Let those whose night time chore it was to combat the big buzzards, take up the chase. It was supper time at the base. "Let's eat," they said.

Rodeo Roped

CHICAGO, March 1 (INS)—Ken Rogers, participating in a rodeo here, temporarily lost his title "King of the Cowboys" as a result of an injunction issued against his employers, The Sunbrook Shows, Inc.

Attorneys for Roy Rogers, movie cowboy, were granted the injunction. They charged that many persons believed Ken Rogers to be Roy Rogers.

Jap Air Rout His Big Thrill

Watching U. S. fighter planes rout 20 Jap Zeros which attacked his landing vessel was the war's biggest thrill to date for Coast Guard Seaman 1/c Arthur E. Nichols, 25, step-son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin F. Walsh of East Broadway, South Boston.

During the sharp aerial engagement, which took place right over Nichols' head on a Southwest Pacific beach landing spot, the South Boston man saw American planes shoot down five of the Japs and drive the remainder away.

His story is related in a dispatch written by another Boston serviceman, Sergt. Benjamin Goldberg of Fox st., Dorchester, a Marine Corps combat correspondent.

Boys' Club Tank Lessons Save Thousands at Sea

By HUCK FINNEGAN

THE IMPORTANCE of swimming has never been better emphasized than since Pearl Harbor, with its subsequent Casablancas, Tarawas and Anzios, and in this connection it is high time the Boys' Clubs of Boston (Charlestown, Roxbury, South Boston) stood up and took a deep bow from the waist.

How many lives their intensive aquatic programs will have been responsible for saving at war's end never will be computed, but it can safely be estimated in the thousands.

"Returning servicemen tell me more lives were lost by drowning than by gunfire at Casablanca," said Joe Baldwin, swim instructor at the Charlestown branch. "The same was true at Dunkirk," continued the nephew of the immortal Matty Baldwin. "I get letters by the armful from former pupils expressing their thanks for the training they received in our tank here."

Letters from Jack Ryan and Gene Keegan in the South Pacific, Bob Freestone in Alaska, Jim Devlin, whose ship was torpedoed, Bobby Wilson on an aircraft carrier. Now Ernie Saccardo is home on furlough after taking part in 40 bombing missions to Sicily and Itily Bubbling with stories of Salerno and other landings.

Backstroke Invaluable

"HERE'S ONE from Sam Dobie in New Guinea," said Baldwin ferreting out a well-thumbed envelope. "Shipmates drowned like rats all around him but Sam made out nicely and succeeded in saving a buddy of his as well.

"You'd be surprised to learn that many drown even with life-preservers on. Fellows hit the water face down and can't right themselves. So we teach the simple backstroke, or sculling to correct that. A fellow is much safer on his back anyway," Baldwin went on. "There is the story of three boys being tossed into the briny at Casablanca. Two were on their stomach, one on his back. Under water explosions reached the vital organs of both men lying on their stomach. The man on his back was just shaken up a bit."

Competitive swimming was the byword at the Boys' Clubs from 1917 to the current war. Renowned grads included Billy Nolan, now a first lieutenant in the Army, who once won the 20-mile Weigley swim at Toronto; Johnny Meany, killed in Sicily, whose pool record of 55 seconds still stands; Johnny Doherty, killed in the Marshalls; Freddie Lee, who captained Brown; Billy Lynch of BU who, as a schoolboy, won the pentathlon against college competition at Yale.

That's all been changed since 1940, however.

Now the Boys' Clubs feature "functional" or "military" swimming.

"The idea today is to keep afloat," said Baldwin. "At Dunkirk many soldiers drowned in six feet of water. That can be prevented simply by bobbing. A man who can't swim can hop up and down and move himself into shallower water."

Baldwin demonstrated "Shirt Tail Life Saving" for those caught without preservers. He ripped off a pair of dungarees, tied knots at the bottom, inflated them by mouth, dunked them and just hung on. "These will hold a man up for an hour," he said. "The procedure can be repeated until the pants wear out."

30,000 in Southie Pool

AND SO the Boys' Clubs teach civilians, pre-inductees and servicemen how to jump off the deck of a ship with life preserver on, how to keep wounded men afloat, etc. So impressed were military men that Army and Coast Guard are now using the Charlestown pool, British, French and U. S. sailors are at Southie under Larry St. Paul and air cadets from Squantum at Roxbury under Charlie Farrar.

Charlestown handled 11,000 servicemen last year and figures were produced to show that 30,000 Navy men used Southie's pool during the same 12-month period.

"It's hard to believe," Baldwin concluded, "but 40 per cent of the Navy's personnel couldn't swim at the start of the war. That figure has since been reduced to 20 per cent. But I can't help thinking how many more lives might have been saved if swimming had been made a 'must' in the long ago."

Cards, Browns Delay Start of '44 Training

ST. LOUIS, March 1 (AP)—The National League Champion St. Louis Cardinals and the Browns of the American League joined today in postponing the start of spring training until March 20 to allow more time in getting their squads together.

JOINS MARINES—Gene Desautels, right, of Southbridge, catcher of the Cleveland Indians, takes the oath as he is sworn into the U. S. Marine Corps yesterday by Capt. Neill J. E. O'Malley at Springfield. The ex-H. C. athlete who broke into the majors with the Red Sox, is married and father of two children. He will leave for Parris Island, S. C.

The Browns' pitchers and catchers were to have reported at Cape Girardeau, Mo., March 10, with the other players due March 13. The Cardinals had set March 15 for the start of their training at Cairo, Ill.

Asked if the postponement indicated some doubt about baseball this season, President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals said: "No, you have to be an optimist in this business and I am optimistic about the prospects. We will certainly have a team on the field for the start of the schedule April 18."

However, Breadon and William O. Dewitt, vice-president of the Browns, agreed the clubs were in the dark about the number of players who would be available and both said this uncertainty was one reason for the training delay.

They also pointed out some players were slow in reporting last year and the later date this spring should make it possible for all to assemble on time.

The teams will have only 19 days "down South" before coming to St. Louis for their spring series of seven games, the only exhibitions on their schedules.

Both Breadon and Dewitt asserted the short training period would be ample because with the smaller squads, expected conditioning can be more intensive for each player. If necessary, the Carinals will bring some of their minor league pitchers to Cairo to help in batting practice.

The Browns have no problem in that respect since Toledo, their American Association farm club, will train with them at Cape Girardeau. The Toledo start also was postponed until March 20.

Gene Desautels Leaves for Camp

SPRINGFIELD, March 1 (INS)—Gene Desautels, Cleveland Indians catcher, prepared today to leave for Parris Island, S. C., to begin basic training with the Marine Corps. He was sworn in yesterday at the Springfield Marine Recruiting Station.

Desautels, a former Holy Cross star, also played with the Detroit Tigers and the Boston Red Sox.

B's Flub Chance for Playoffs

By BILL GRIMES

On their first appearance on home ice in more than a fortnight, the Bruins did a double flop last night at the Boston Garden. They dropped a 7 to 3 decision to the Toronto Maple Leafs and practically eliminated themselves from the coming playoffs.

The Rossmen are now three games behind the fourth place Blackhawks, whom they will meet tomorrow night in Chicago, and are four games back of Toronto, the club they figure to overtake, with only eight contests remaining on their schedule.

Apparently, the Maple Leafs realized, even more clearly than the Bruins, the importance of winning last night. They were trailing one goal going into the tenth minute of the opening period but after tieing the count, they went to town at the expense of the Rossmen, by coming up with four tallies in the second period, which gave them a 6 to 2 lead to start the final chapter.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the Bruins and also the fifth straight setback by the Maple Leafs.

After missing 14 out of the last 15 games, Bill Cowley returned to the firing line last night. Despite his long layoff, Cowley had a great night. He scored the second goal, assisted by Bert Gardiner, who set up the play via a long forward pass, and figured in the other two. Bill brought the near capacity crowd to its feet early in the first period when he passed from the left wing boards across the front of the crease to Norm Calladine, who batted the puck in for the first goal of the game. Then, late in the second period, when his club was behind 1 to 6, Cowley took a well timed pass from Bert Gardiner, went down and beat Paul Bibeault for a fine goal. Cowley's third and final scoring contribution was made early in the final chapter when he passed to Bep Guidolin, after Pat Egan had fed him the puck.

Tedder Kennedy, a rookie forward, scored twice for the Maple Leafs while Babe Pratt and Bud Poile were credited with two assists. The other Toronto goals were made by Lorne Carr, George Boothman, Gus Bodnar, Elwyn Morris and Russ Johnstone.

Jack Crawford is back on the injured list and his place on the Boston defense was taken by Guy Labrie of the Olympics. Labrie turned in a fine game despite the fact that he is far from a well man, due to a back ailment. Labrie's condition was such that after the game he was ordered to report for a physical examination today and will not accompany the Bruins to Chicago.

Phils Boost Price at Gate

PHILADELPHIA, March 1 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced an increase in admission prices to meet a new 10 per cent federal tax, and an official of the Athletics said that club would follow suit.

Previously, big league admission prices here included a former 10 per cent federal tax and a 4 per cent city tax.

Nathan Alexander of the Phillies' ticket office said the new prices would be: 65 cents for bleachers, compared with 57; $1.25 for grandstand general admission, up from $1.14, and $2 for box seats that formerly sold for $1.71.

Roy Mack, vice-president of the Athletics, said, "We are working out changes now, but are not ready to give them out."

Olympics Strong For Week-End Tilts

Coach Hago Harrington, expects to have three strong lines ready for Garden action Friday night and Sunday afternoon, when his young champion Olympics face the New York Rovers and the Philadelphia Falcons.

The Olympics have enjoyed success against both New York and Philadelphia this season.

Montgomery Gate May Hit $100,000

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery may draw $100,000 in their third 15-round lightweight title bout here Friday night.

In their first meeting last May, won by Montgomery, they grossed $94,500. Their second meeting in November, won by Jack, grossed $96,873.

Boy May Pace Callahan Show

A kid of 19 may be the star Friday night when the Callahan A. C. stages its second all-star show of the season at Mechanics Building with five bouts scheduled to go a total of 40 rounds.

He is Johnny Finazzo, middleweight member of a family that has given the ring game six boys of better than average skill. Already considered by many as the future wearer of the crown held in escrow for Tony Zale, teen-aged Johnny Finazzo hails from Baltimore.

In tackling Berlie Lanier Friday night, Finazzo meets the same style of fighter as himself—a rugged, free-slugging Negro who doesn't move backward.

Of equal quality will be the second 10-round bout between Joe Sulick of New York and George "Red" Doty of Hartford.

Number three will be the 10-round bout between Sammy Daniels and Bobby Claus of Buffalo, N. Y.

The heavyweight division will be represented by Howard Thompson, the Saugus white hope, and Freddy BeShore of the Newport Naval Station.

Title Races At Arena

A standout skating carnival for the New England speed skating championships sponsored by the Massachusetts Skating Club, will be staged on Sunday evening at the Boston Arena. Proceeds will go to the USO.

The committee announced today that one of the best speed-skating duels in years will highlight the program. Carmelita Landry of Fitchburg will meet Beatrice Amen of Connecticut, who has the speed and endurance to force Carmelita to a record pace.

Speed skating races, figure skating exhibitions and other numbers including the ever-popular barrel-jumping Lebels round out the program.

All the New England states and New York are expected to send their top racers, and many of the headlined ice speedsters already have entered. Entries close March 3.

Cards' Gridders in Navy

CHICAGO, March 1 (INS)—Andy Puplis, Chicago Cardinals' grid star, was to be sworn in as a Navy ensign today. Puplis played at Notre Dame during his college days.

Fans Favor Clayburne

Jack Clayburne will be rated a slight favorite to move ahead in his bid for a return crack at the duration championship tonight when he tackles Leo Numa, the former Black Secret, in the main bout of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena.

With the exception of an unexpected loss to the Golden Terror last month, Clayburne, the Colored champion from Roxbury, has gone undefeated.

Numa will be relying on his punishing leg-holds to stop Clayburne.

Three matches on the supporting card will complete the program. In the semi-final, John Katan, Toronto, will tangle with Jim Wallis, ex-Holy Cross gridder, while in the weekly special, Rebel Bob Russell will be trading blows with Manuel Cortez, a former pro boxer. The opener, slated for 8:15, will pit Tiger Tasker against Jack Reeder.

MAIN BOUT
Jack Clayburne, Roxbury, vs. Leo Numa, Seattle.

SEMIFINAL
John Katan, Toronto, vs. Jim Wallis, Holy Cross.

SPECIAL BOUT
Rebel Bob Russell, Newport, R. I., vs. Manuel Cortez, Spain.

OPENING BOUT
Tiger Tasker, Winnipeg, vs. Jack Reeder, Toronto.

Fathers', Sons' Night At B. C. High School

The annual fathers' and sons' night of Boston College High School will be in the school hall on James st. Friday night, March 3. In past years this has been one of the most interesting evenings on the list of social events. Last year more than 1400 attended and it is expected that figure will be equalled this year.

A program of vaudeville, speaking and sport movies will round out the bill. Joe Cronin and Frank Shellenbach of the Red Sox have promised to attend.

Veteran Dickshot Realizes Ambition

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Johnny Dickshot of Chicago, who has played with Boston and Pittsburgh in the National League, says that playing for the Chicago White Sox this season will mean the fulfillment of his boyhood ambition.

The 32-year-old outfielder hit .352 for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last season. Guy Curtright, another Sox outfielder, also signed his 1944 contract yesterday.

Yi Yi Erne, Ring Star, Dies

PHILADELPHIA, March 1 (AP)—Hugh F. Calvin, who fought 600 prize fights early in the century under the ring name of Young "Yi Yi" Erne and whipped several champions in nontitle bouts, died yesterday of his first illness.

The 60-year-old veteran, often called "America's most wonderful boxer" in his fighting days, suffered a heart attack two weeks ago. Yesterday, in bed, he whispered to his wife: "Set me up in my corner. I want to be sitting up when I go." As Mrs. Calvin propped him up in bed, he died.

Calvin, fighting between 1900 and 1918, met such ring stars as Young Corbett, Freddie Welsh, Abe Attell, Harry Lewis, Young Ahearn and Harlem Tommy Murphy.

Senators Interested In Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 1 (AP)—The Washington Senators of the American League were reported today by Thomas H. Richardson, president of the Eastern Baseball League, interested in affiliating with a proposed new Williamsport team which would take over a vacan Eastern League franchise.

He said Washington has seven players available for assignment to Williamsport should any working agreement or outright ownership plan be adopted.

McManus, Snyder Seek Mexican Job

MEXICO CITY, March 1 (AP)—Two former U. S. major league baseball stars, Marty McManus of the Boston Red Sox, and Frank Snyder, of the Cardinals and Giants, are negotiating for the managership of the Nuevo Laredo team of the Mexican League, Jorge Pasquel, league president, said today.

McManus now lives in St. Louis and Snyder in San Antonio, Tex.

Ex-Yank Joins Tribe as Coach

Going into the American League for their second coach, the Braves have signed Benny Bengough, an aide with the Senators since 1940, according to an announcement by Sec. John Quinn.

Manager Bob Coleman, who had previously signed Tom Sheehan as one coach, informed his bosses that he had contacted Bengough in St. Louis and that the old Yankee catcher had accepted the offer.

Bengough was with the Yankees from 1923 through 1930 as a catcher and then spent the next two years with the Browns.

Bold Benny was a catcher with Washington in 1934 and then left the majors to manage Joplin in the Western Ass'n. He remained there through 1937, when he packed again and took over as manager of the Newark farm for the Yanks in 1938 and 1939. In 1940 he joined the Senators as coach and remained in the Capitol through last season.

$50,000 Stake Race At Garden State

CAMDEN, N. J., March 1 (AP)—A $50,000 added purse—one of the richest in New Jersey racing history—was held out today to lure the nation's top-flight horses into the Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park next Aug. 26.

Eugene Mori, president, announced the bait and said he expected it to attract the best. The mile and a furlong race, feature event of the 2-year-old park's July 5 through Sept. 9 meeting, will be for 3-year-olds and upward.

Yanks Include Service Eligibles on Roster

NEW YORK, March 1 (AP)—The champion New York Yankees published their team roster today, listing 32 men as against 26 a year ago.

The catch, however, is that the roster lists Joe Gordon, second baseman; Catcher Rollie Hemsley and Pitchers Marius Russo and "Spud" Chandler, all of whom are very unlikely to play because they may be called into the armed forces any day.
